

YOUR CANDIDATE

Hannah Moyne Witham, Bromley Common and Holwood

I am putting myself forward again as a Green Party candidate for Bromley Common and Holwood as I feel I achieved well in 2018 and enjoyed a good relationship with the local community. Pre-Covid I have been an active member of the Party, attending local events and playing my part in local rallies such as Save our NHS and Stand Up to Racism.

I have worked in education for ten years, currently as a pastoral manager in a Secondary school and before that worked for the NHS, therefore I have a passion for educational and health services in the local area. One of my main focuses would be ensuring that health needs are met in Bromley especially in terms of mental health and the care of the elderly. I believe the Voice of our Children is also extremely important so I would work closely with the Youth Council to ensure their ideas are being heard.

I will use my experience to work with the residents and businesses of Bromley Common and Holwood to develop a plan that resonates with the people focusing on issues relating to the environment and how local services are used to limit the damage to our local area and therefore the wider environment.

I believe the Green Party can make a real difference to people's lives, I will work closely with my fellow candidates to ensure our messages about equality, co-operation and sustainability are heard by all of our constituents and offer them an understanding, sensible and realistic alternative to the main parties in this area.

Make YOUR vote count.
